

Are We Electric

The Kooks

When will we believe it, when will we see the light?
Stop running from it; why do we keep denying?
That we can feel it, when we've got each other
And we are electric together

Are we really moving, are we really here?
Are we just electric or something engineered?
Always there to haunt me, lions in the sand
About to cross back over, then you grab my hand

Are we a simulation, do we really feel?
Flesh can be deceiving; are we caught inside a wheel?
Are you disconnected, do you need somewhere to land?
This is evolution, so please just take my hand

Electric together

When will we believe it, when will we see the light?
Stop running from it; why do we keep denying?
That we can feel it, when we've got each other
And we are electric together
Electric together
Electric together
Electric together
Electric together

Have we hit the ceiling, are we both the same?
Are we still electric, have we come undone again?
Are you searching for the answers, are you looking for the plans?
Why don't we just surrender, please just take my hand

Electric together

When will we believe it, when will we see the light?
Stop running from it; why do we keep denying?
That we can feel it, when we've got each other
And we are electric together
Electric together
Electric together
Electric together
Electric together

Electric together
Electric together
Please just take my hand

When will we believe it, when will we see the light?
Stop running from it; why do we keep denying?
That we can feel it, when we've got each other
And we are electric together

When will we believe it, when will we see the light?
Stop running from it; why do we keep denying?
That we can feel it, when we've got each other
And we are electric together
Electric together
Electric together

Electric together
Electric together
Electric together, when we've got each other
And we are electric together
