

Melody Maker

The Kooks

Melody Maker, why didn't she,
take my heart up to the skies,
only to brake me.
The world is.

It keeps spinning,
but I'm not with it,
I'm all alone.
Oh, Melody Maker, would you,
send me a light, or lend me,
some of your time so that I can see,
That would be broken wings

And if you need me,
remember not to come.
Did you deceive me,
with your back against the wall?

Do you believe me?
All I have is love.
Why did you deceive me? Ha!
Distance, that I'm breaking the wall.

Too young to remember it,
too hard to forget you know,
I live my life on the end of your cigarette.
The past is gone.

Let's not forget as because,
down the sky before you let me in.
You never really let me in!

So next time you need me,
remember not to come.
Did you deceive me,
with your back against the wall?

Do you believe me?
All I have is love, for you!
Why did you deceive me? Ha!
Distance, that I'm breaking the wall...
