

Dreams And Reality

Kotipelto

I don't need a virgin I don't want a whore I can't get an angel But I'm not sure what I am searching for My dreams and reality Are worlds which collide Confusion, illusion, are dancing side by side

Why don't you take, why don't you make me Believe in something real Don't hesitate, don't you push me away Come the dawn, finally

I've been alone, but barely holding my own Here waiting for you to call Can't you see the wound inside of me That's bleeding

Time after time I've been left in my despair And what have I learned Is it just not to care Is it too much to ask for The will to be free How can I sift through all the lies? The pressure is starting to tear - it's all I can bear

Why don't you take, why don't you make me Believe in something
real Don't hesitate, don't you push me away Come the dawn, finally

I've been alone, but barely holding my own Here waiting for you
to call Can't you see the wound inside of me That's bleeding

Still I'm here waiting, for a miracle, so damn frustrating To believe at all

Why don't you take, why don't you make me Believe in something real Don't you push me away Can't you see? - I feel alone
