

The Bride

Krampus

A day like all the other's passed
Like leaves in autumn , calm hides the fear of winter
Your heart miles away in danger, for their greed dressed like pride
A ring destroys your hope in pain
The bells of death divide you in two
Your half no more your dreams with him
Under a flag buried 6 feet under

Fallen to the desert
For glory
He will become
The hero
The soldier
The sorrow
For you an eternal void

(Tears for the memory)

Pictures on the wall
Shed tears of his blood
Your veil from white will now turn black
The solemn promise that he made
Is now a medal pinned on your pain.
Now on your own
To face this life
The bed forever cold on his side
Of the best day now on your mind
Remains the words "till death do us part"
