Hear the call of the master the light that blinds your eyes the light that set you on fire of violence from the darkness the voice of command that pierces your flesh it must kill your enemies mutilating and santifying in the name of glory calling the evil master of your mind In the name of your truth flaming agony and death to the man of a new world empire lies and plague are spreading out violence is the cure without mercy make blood spill out from their eyes in the name of your command morbid shadows of the night The purification before the soul that rises the new world empire is gonna be ruined home of damned they follow the master of a new age the age of evil the kingdom of truth the kingdom of violence feel the fire taht burns your corpse call the evil mastermind