Ocean Within

Word.. Sonja.. you know you saw her in the movie And my man Saul, he's like THIS!

There is no ocean like the one, within Look to the moon rise with the tides, and swim

Uh-huh, yeah, yeah KRS-One, coming through.. like this Uh-huh, do it, do it like that, like that Uh, uh-huh

Saul the road to Damascus, come follow me The serpent swallow the moon, but it won't, swallow me (Yeah, speak the word!) Intellect is like a major city Laden with concrete, metal Advanced modes of transportation Shining buildings, and fenced in parks Spirit is the mountain's forest wilderness and vast countryside that surrounds it Too many people live in the city Struggling day to day for mere existance Most have forgotten how to live off the land They only experience nature on class trips and short-term vacations For those that live in the country Cities are like amusement parks with high prices and temporal satisfaction At the end of the day, they are tired and ready to go home, and relieve their ringing ears There is no ocean like the one, within Look to the moon rise with the tides, and swim

Uh-huh, speak the word Hyper-accelerated meditations talk The reversal of this word dispersal is thought There is no difference between thought and talk like the blackboard chalk and homicide chalk they both give outlines One is designed to outline the mind The other outlines the body after a crime Could it be that these two chalks are connected; meaning the body gets outlined when the mind is neglected -- or poorly directed Like the teacher with the chalk Or is the teacher the beginning of the homicide we talk? Be selective in your speech Cause the chalk of the two technical teaching has taught each Knowledge Reigns Supreme Over Nearly Everyone Nearly every daughter, nearly every son Ignorance reigns supreme for some They chase the sum, inviting the I-R-S to come Make the connection, choose your direction Use your protection when sexin AND hexin Things come back cause they really never left If the secret to meditation is found in the breath

KRS-One