

Prayer (For The Youth Of Today)

Kurhaus

Don't want to say everything was better
When we were young
We also wanted to have some fun
But we had ideals
Felt like fighting a war
Say, can't you feel that anymore
I don't want you to repeat
The shit we did
I want you to think
Start thinking
Go
I say a prayer for the youth of today

Is it sarcasm
Or did you give up
I hope neither of them g please
Open your eyes, say
Don't you see no hope
Do you see anything at all
Arm yourself with knowledge
Form troops of freaks
Start a war
Come on
Go
I say a prayer for the youth of today

Yeah, and suddenly
On a dark and dusty day
Millions of them came creeping
Out of their dirty holes
The people shivered
They had never seen the gloom in their eyes
And no one dared stopping them
Only half a mile away from the centre of the old weak power
They formed an arrow and set themselves on fire
And with 2000 miles per hour they crushed into their aim
And the flames burned everything that wasn't pure
Go
I say a prayer for the youth of today
