

Still They Wait

Kurt Nilsen

Grandpa wished that they would part Leave them under a naked star tell them what you have in mind Better do right...

A love that never goes nowhere
A love that never fades.

And still they wait, for the best to arrive
And still they wait, for the best to arrive

Grandpa wished that many years would go aswell as they hoped A savior could come their way
if they do right...

A love that never goes nowhere
A love that never fades.

And still they wait, for the best to arrive
And still they wait, for the best to arrive

Grandpa wished that honesty would guide them through their whole lives Live to earn another start
if they do right...

A love that never goes nowhere
A love that never fades.

And still they wait, for the best to arrive
And still they wait, for the best to arrive

And still they wait, for the best to arrive
And still they wait, for the best to arrive