Runner Ups

Kurt Vile

Hey old man, how many times we gotta tell you We don't want a number, where you been so long? Hey girl, come on over That'll be just fine

If it ain't workin', take a whiz on the world An entire nation drinkin' from a dirty truck My best friend's long gone
But I got runner ups, yeah

When I walk in, my head is practically dragging Yeah, and all I ever see is just a whole lot of dirt My whole life's been one long running gag Two packs of red apples for the long ride home

Well you know, baby

See you walking till you took a wrong way train Then you sat down and couldn't get up

My best friend's long gone But I got runner ups

I don't know if it's real but it's how I feel Don't if you really came but I feel dumb in asking You should have been an actor, she's so domineering Take two eyed gold earrings for your troubles, man

Visibly dark points of future in a faze
Instead of standing, I'm running around
The sharpest tool in school doesn't know what's up

My best friend's long gone But I got runner ups, yeah
