

Gravity

Kutless

You've dealt me every card I have played,
But I know I'm guilty of choices I've made

This is not the mystery that's constantly consuming me
It's How a God so Holy could love someone like me

No matter where I go Your mercy follows
And I come running back to You

Your Gravity keeps pulling me to You
I must have been destined for You

You knew this human heart would be lost
So You planned a ransom and You paid the cost

There's more beyond my mind that I can't see but I believe,
Because You are the only God who died for me

No matter where I go Your mercy follows
And I come running back to You
