

Forgiveness

Kwan

Far away from this time in hide's a place for me where lie the fractured fancies..we held dear
I haven't got the strength for fighting anymore I've begun accepting, used to being low can't remember how it used to go suppose I knew laughter must've been good in my thoughts

And now your creeping in my mind, making me tell lies like I love you and it's all gonna be just fine gotta break it now I hate you and I just don't care

Why should I beg for forgiveness..

It came to me quite slowly I didn't want to see my heart was just a blacken playground could this mean there is no points of sanity

Give my heart and the rest of my soul if you leave, I lost myself in loving you
