

Woke Up Dead

Kyla La Grange

Oh, you leave her alone
Oh, you leave her here

Oh my love you want to let her go
It'll be too late to turn back you know

One fine day when I woke up dead
She was on your arm and she filled your head
Oh darling I believed that we were real
You were the only thing that I could touch and feel

Oh please, please tell me that it's all a lie, we were born to love like we were born to die
And all my rivers and all my guns
Have led me here, what have you done?

Oh my love you want to let her go
It'll be too late to turn back you know
Oh my love you want to let her see
Where the water goes when it's black and deep

Oh my love you want to let her go
It'll be too late to turn back you know
Oh my love you want to let her see
Where the water goes when it's black and deep