Not For You

Knocked down unappreciated Day is losing grip on the light And everywhere I turn there is night

Locked out and confused I waited I saw but never opend my eyes Alone together blinded by lies

And I could never get through Cos I was never with you

If I geve you the world would It be enough for you Not for you If I tore out my heart and my mind And wrapped them nicely I can deal with the hurt and the blame But not for you Not for you And I don't wanna stay I can deal with the pain, but baby Not for you

I kept all the focus and nerve Was answering your every call And making sure that we had it all

You reap what you sow and I burned And love can be a devious snake Imposing to be real when she's fake

And I could never reach you Cos I was never with you

If I gave you the world would It be enough for you Not for you If I tore out my heart and my mind And wrapped them nicely I can deal with the hurt and the blame But not for you Not for you And I don't wanna stay I can deal with the pain, but baby Oh baby, not for you

Not for you And I don't wanna stay Not for you If I gave you the world would it be enough for you Not for you would it be enough for you I am never enough for you

If I gave you the world would It be enough for you Not for you If I tore out my heart and my mind And wrapped them nicely I can deal with the hurt and the blame But not for you Not for you And I don't wanna stay I can deal with the pain, but baby Not for you

Knocked down unappreciated Day is losing grip on the light And everywhere I look there is night
