No World Without You

Kylie Minogue

The sweet perfume of flowers in bloom Remind me of you But you're more than just a memory The things that you do to me If only you knew

I've tried hard, had to be strong Now I don't know if I can go on

There's no world without you I miss you, my friend There's no world without you This can't be the end

Remember the night holding me tight Just me and you I remember the day you went away What was I to do If you came home, one of these days Would I hold back or would I say

There's no world without you I miss you, my friend There's no world without you This can't be the end

I've tried hard, had to be strong Now I don't know if I can go on

There's no world without you I miss you, my friend There's no world without you This can't be the end

There's no world without you This can't be the end
