Amorous

Lacrimas Profundere

Love is all I feel, and the fear that it could end one day. you're the only sense, of my life and of my pains.

you, you carry my dreams in you, with your lovely kisses and your tenderness.

why did you left me my all-inundated warmth: with your smile, with your tears and with your hope that you put in me.

my fate withers with your body and your beauty which shines only in my rememberance of you my calamity

o. I loved her but now she's gone and there she lies in her coffin, all what I feel is pain as I closed her dull eyes and shed a passion's tear love be this my last hope, but I will never leave what I...