

The Waltz Time Forgot

Lacy J. Dalton

You're not as young as yesterday
But we won't tell the clock.
Your lips still taste like warm red wine
In the waltz that time forgot.
The flame is burnin' lower now
But the fire is just as hot.
It warms my heart each time we dance
The waltz that time forgot.
Timeless as the Swanee river
Winding to the sea.
We've been all the way together
Baby, you and me.
So play that old song one more time
The one that's never stopped.
I know you saved this dance for me
The waltz that time forgot.
Play that old song one more time
The one that's never stopped.
I know you saved this dance for me
The waltz that time forgot.
