Fire

Ladytron

A red cell, a perfect view out of the Novotel, sat gently listening to This song, "it started over again" And the girl gets higher, the room is on fire If you want her, let it go, hello, The sun went in, and it started over again

Linking an encyclopaedia of nothing In half-written signatures and false names "it started over again" And the girl gets higher, the room's on fire If you want her, let it go, hello, The lights went out and it started over again.