

Simon Says

Laleh

I once thought I really knew
I once thought I really knew myself
And things might really look all good
You just need to cross the line of you
I told myself

Simon says: Sit down well
Simon says: You can't help you
Simon says: You can't help yourself
Just do your mom did-and-dones
You should stick to things you understand
Dead wrong, you're dead wrong

And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows where we are now
And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows who we are now

And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows where we are now
And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows who we are now

And every night I let go, I let go
Every day I awake, awake in a different shade

And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows who we are now - now

And I once thought I really knew
I once thought I really knew my limits

But Simon says: Too much to do
Simon says: Keep up? Don't even bother!
Don't even bother
I know I'm not the only one
Do your mom did-and-dones
And see the things we overcome
We would feel flattered
And we play
Simon says: Too much to do
Simon says: Keep up? Don't even bother!
Don't even bother

And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows where we are now
And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows who we are now

And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows where we are now
And I never forget nobody knows
Nobody knows who we are now

And I never forget, and I never forget
And I never forget who we are now
And I never forget, and I never forget

Nobody knows who we are now
