I want some hatred on through This pain to feel you're fading They say stop be more gentle It seems I walk this hard trail alone Come danger take them all Then throw them at the walls Why won't you let me go What does your father feel There is no point is your papa not living now I'm gonna tear off the legs of the one that killed Me the most powerfull human of all Woe I a missing father An empty role Why did this immortal good child forget me Why'd a mans own father blow these Heartstrings away Thrice have I called for blood I want the undead child Why wouldn't fate let this unborn child Die a wooden blow Please Kill Him