

Before You Go

Lana Lane

Centuries ago

At the edge of the rainbow
A Castle stood shining in the storm
While a new princess was born

By age five

On dragon wings she'd ride
They'd fly from the oceans to the sun
For years they flew as one

Each new horizon together
Opened their hearts to forever
One last look at what we know
We won't...Before we go

Searching worlds above
The princess fell in love
And had to return the dragon home
Now he flies alone

Each new horizon together
Facing the thought of forever
One last look
At what you know
One last smile...before you go

Many years rolled by
One day the dragon died
He now lives in the oceans and the sun
Again they fly as one

Each new horizon together
Opened their hearts to forever
One last look
At what we know
One last tear...Before i go