

Emerald City

Lana Lane

In the early morning twilight
Down a dark and dusty road
Just over the horizon
The city paved with gold

The hilltop breaks the cloud where
The city used to stand
And I wonder where I'm going
And I wonder where I am

I face the great unknown
Am I ever going home?

Something's wrong in the Emerald City
Nothing I can do
Drowning in a sea of blue
No ruby slippers can save me

As the twilight turns to sapphire
There's a castle of shining jewels
Just a trick of moonlight
Shines on a field of fools

I face the night alone
Am I ever going home?

Something's wrong in the Emerald City
Nothing I can do
Drowning in a sea of blue
No ruby slippers can save me
Can they?

Your dream of days gone by
Distant nights
Starlights shining down on you
Try to touch the sky
Don't you know the magic
Comes out of the blue
