

Escher's Staircase

Lana Lane

here's something in the air tonight
Shapes are comin' out of the darkness
Ooh there's a shadow in the sky tonight
I see it rising up from the water

From the staircase
You see where the future lies
It's struggle between dark and light

From earth to sea
Symmetry fades into change
Between you and me
It's never enough

Break the chain, walk the path
Climb the steps to heaven's door
Turn the key, turn the page
Yesterday forevermore
There is darkness in the psyche
And a light that's burning bright
Within your soul

You find yourself so far away
Come and shake the hand of forever
Goes on and on and endlessly
Turning points of light into matter

When you're finding the holes
In geometry
It takes time to find your way home

From earth to sea
Symmetry fades into change
Between you and me
It's never enough

Break the chain, walk the path
Climb the steps to heaven's door
Turn the key, turn the page
Yesterday forevermore
There is darkness in the psyche
And a light that's burning bright
Within your soul