

Innocence

Lana Lane

Doll house in the corner Where you used to sit and play Cutting paper playmates Having tea at noon each day All the things you've cherished Now have faded all away And you're a big girl now you say All familiar faces That you used to watch and grow Now have turned to faces That you really do not know Now some special boy Has come along and brought you joy And wants to make love to you There goes your innocence Who's to say what's right or wrong But it's your innocence when you give it up it's gone In your heart and in your mind If you feel it's the time Then your innocence is gone All those little shadows flickering on your bedroom wall Once were scary monsters Now they are so very small Dangling as you whisper As you hurry down the hall You want to show off to all There goes your innocence Who's to say what's right or wrong
But it's your innocence When you give it up it's gone In your heart and in your mind If you feel it's the time Then your innocence is gone Follow intuition No, you ain't done nothing bad Take a look around you At your mother and dad You're not alone, happens all the time You should be glad Yeah, you're a big girl now So sad There goes your innocence Who's to say what's right or wrong
But it's your innocence When you give it up it's gone In
Your innocence, innocence... Innocence Innocence is gone...
