

Summon The Devil

Lana Lane

Summon the devil and he will come
Summon the devil make your heart numb
Rise of the fallen he'll be there
There for the callin' anytime anywhere

Silent winds begin to blow
Summer rains turn to snow
Night to day then night once more
We bow our heads at of evil's door

Double double toil and trouble
Fire burn and caldron bubble
By the pricking of my thumbs
Something wicked this way comes

Summon the devil take his hand
Summon the devil at your command
Sins of the father fall to the son
You think that it's over, it's just begun

As we stir our charm of hell
We see the visions of the spell
Welcome now our honored hosts,
The king, his queen, and wandering ghosts

Double double toil and trouble
Fire burn and caldron bubble
By the pricking of my thumbs
Something wicked this way comes

Summon the devil and he will come
Summon the devil make your heart numb
Down into darkness walk the line
Into the abyss you'll pay in time

Now our sinful deed is done
Our spider's web is finely spun
We'll trap the weak with silver tongue
And watch humanity come undone

Double double toil and trouble
Fire burn and caldron bubble
By the pricking of my thumbs
Something wicked this way comes