

Voices

Lana Lane

I hear a knockin' at the door
But no one's there
Just the wind callin' my name
One silent tear
On my window pane
Making me remember

I try to close my eyes
But the moon's too high
Can't get you out of my mind
I make a wish upon the sky
And call your name
Waiting for your answer

Heaven and earth collide
Where the angels roam
I hear their voices
Calling me back home
If I could clear my eyes
Of the full moonlight
I'll be with you again
It'll be alright

Wish I was swimmin' in a cloud
High above the stars
I see him waiting there
Send an angel for my soul
On wings of Freya
Heaven holds the answer

Heaven and earth collide
Where the angels roam
I hear their voices
Calling me back home
If I could clear my eyes
Of the full moonlight
I'll be with you again
It'll be alright
Oh it'll be alright

In the firelight there's a butterfly
Her wings become the flame
Leave the world behind
Leave behind the pain
I'll find my way through angel tears
Don't cry for me, don't cry for me