If only I had one more chance to change my life today Then I would never let you go

All my friends keep telling me
That I should leave you for a while
So you must show your love to me
And tell me what you feel

I thought that even you had feelings for me too I know I was wrong
And baby when you care, then I will be there
By your side

And now I stand here alone in the dark Without you
There's nothing more that I would like Than be with you
I close my eyes but I can't stop
Thinking of you
And now I stand here alone in the dark Without you
