Me The Plague

Last Days Of April

Would you call me up to say That everything be okay if I just stayed away As if you got treated for the plague And me being close to you would only cause more ache But if I stay away I know that my heart breaks

You're moving on And soon you're gone You're moving on It seems so sad to see you go It's so sad

I thought maybe you would change your mind I thought that maybe all you need's a little time But you turned hours into days And after weeks you were so kind to let me see That time would only show what we can never be

You're moving on And soon you're gone You're moving on It seems so sad to see you go It's so sad
