

We pulled ourselves together.
So tangled we would never fall apart.
Our hearts would beat whenever.
No longer use to keep ourselves alive.

We had so much going on,
Why did this have to go and happen to us? Oooh
And if my heart starts beating again, I just want to know will you be waiting on the other end.

Pictures in my bedroom,
Reminds me of ten years that came and went
Raised of old intentions,
Wither away as time evolves the past

We had so much going on,
Why did this have to go and happen to us? Oooh
And if my heart starts beating again, I just want to know will you be waiting on the other end.

Never letting go is my own cancer, forgetting the truth it's the only pill x3
Forgetting the truth,
It's the only answer x4

We had so much going on,
Why did this have to go and happen to us? Oooh
And if my heart starts beating again, I just want to know will you be waiting on the other end.