

Meant To Be

Late Night Alumni

You tell me love is standing next to you
There's not much about love that I understand
And here you are again despite
The imposable... improbable

That's how I know this love is more than usual
This is just what I need
And here you are again to take my hand
You stay with me
And take another chance

This is what was meant to be
Took so long for you and me
I figured out the way to go
Yes I know you told me so
Now I have the eyes to see

Some things make sense more than others
Things of the heart seldom do
But here you are again
And now I understand
I'll take this gift you've given me

This is what was meant to be
Took so long for you and me
I figured out the way to go
Yes I know you told me so
Now I have the eyes to see
