

Signal

Laura Jansen

Radio's blasting
I hear they're broadcasting a signal we all should hear

They're sending a message, it's fighting the static I'm listening, I'm quiet, I'm here

Soon everything will be magic, my dear
Soon everything will be magic, my dear

The birds are directing, the traffic below in patters ignoring the light

In this motion I'm static, both hopeful and tragic Eyes up, eyes open and blind

Soon everything will be magic, my dear
Soon everything will be magic, my dear

I'm waiting on a sign I can't believe the time, we're living in God let this finally be the one Cause I heard it all before and nearly nothing gets to me this time I am listening, really listening

I see smoke in the distance the news is just a premonition Something's changing, something's going down

I'll take anything you give me
Anything to know I'm not alone
Hopefully I'm not alone, hopefully we're not alone, alone

Soon everything will be magic, my dear
Soon everything will be magic, my dear
Soon everything, is everything is everything and we are not alone
