

Whenever I fall, taking all the chances I can
I put my world in your command
Back in the dark and far from taking that path
Again, to where we

Shine in the face of all that's to come saying
'My love, this song is for you'
I lie in the space of daydreams gone wrong thinking
'My love, what happened to you?'

And standing up tall, taller, learning my glow,
Living in light I made on my own
You do as you please, go be a slave to your mind
All of the while, I'll be
Bridge Holding this moment, remember me, when we'd

Love isn't thought, and it's not just a place to call home
Love isn't pain, or a face you can own
Love isn't touch, not the crutch of a shoulder to lean on You're gone, but it's not