Wait for the day you come home from the lonely part And look for the girl who has put up with all of your shit You never have needed anyone for so long

You learn in your bed you've been gone for too long So you put in the time, but it's too late to make it strong

Now all I want is your pity
Or all I want are your bitter tears
Yeah, all I want is your pity
Or at least all I want are your bitter tears

All I want is your pity
Oh all I want are your bitter tears
Yeah, all I want is your pity
Oh all I want are your bitter tears

Wake with a start

And the dog and the girl are gone

So you pack up your things

And head into the lame unknown

You never had needed anyone for so long

And now all I want is your pity
And all I want are your bitter tears
Now all I want is your pity
And all I want are your bitter tears

From now on, I'm someone different Cuz it's no fun to be predictably lame From now on, let's do it different Cuz I just want what I want

Take me home Take me home Take me home Take me home