

Break Me Down

LeAnn Rimes

Give me a moment here Just enough to catch my breath something is happening here and it's scaring me to death you push me to the edge where I want to risk it all again for the first time in a long time I'm throwing caution to the wind

You can break me down if you want to break me down doesn't really matter how this crazy thing turns out cause you take me there where I lose myself
just for a moment if nothing else
You can break me down if you want to break me down

Yeah it's the strangest thing but it all makes perfect sense funny how life falls in place when you dare to take a chance you push me to the edge where I want to risk it all again so take me where you want to I am willing to give in

You can break me down if you want to break me down
doesn't really matter how this crazy thing turns out
cause you take me there
where I lose myself
just for a moment if nothing else
You can break me down if you want to break me down

so take me where you want to I am willing to give in
