

Who We Really Are

LeAnn Rimes

Love would be easy if you always said the right thing
Love would be easy if you never had to think about How somebody else would feel
So go and live the life of strangers
Put a mask on Dance around the dangers
And never look behind your lover's face
So I'll never have the chance to give you grace

It's in the fights and falls working through it all
When you're not afraid to climb another wall
When you speak the truth that you used to hide
Seems like you're crossing to the other side
But then I follow you so you're not alone
Then I wrap my arms around you and take you home
And say it's okay, it's okay if love is that hard
That's how we find out who we really are

What you're going through,
I go through all that too
What you're going through,
is nothing short of why I fell in love with you
So go and lay there in the shadows
Like an outcast too messed up to deal with
But what you think is broken is what I need
Yeah that's the stuff that's gonna heal the brokenness in me

It's in the fights and falls working through it all
When you're not afraid to climb another wall
When you speak the truth that you use to hide
Seems like you're crossing to the other side
But then I follow you so you're not alone
Then I wrap my arms around you and take you home
And say it's okay, it's okay if love is that hard
That's how we find out who we really are
That's how we find out who we really are

It's in the fights and falls working through it all
Just to get it back you would scratch and crawl
When you speak the truth that you used to hide
Seems like there's no way to get off this ride
But then I follow you so you're not alone
Then I wrap my arms around you and take you home
And say it's okay, it's okay if love is that hard
Say it's okay, it's okay if love is that hard
That's how we find out who we really are
It's how we find out who we really are
