

Do The Right Thing

Leatherface

Define what you mean define what you say
Define your mind and do the right thing
Sat on the edge of this menagerie
Watching it came apart at the seams
And you can have me if you want is what I say that important
You smell of all the cigs and cheap whiskey as an arbiter of taste
Who's taste who's taste
You can talk you can talk you can talk and you can talk
For hours to a mirror it doesn't answer either
Don't underestimate underdogs they can beat the world
And come back for more they can dance and romance
And drink the night into coma and you can have me if you want
Is what I say that important you can build me up to knock me down
And we'll just keep getting off the ground who's taste
You can talk you can talk you can talk you can talk
For hours to a mirror it doesn't answer either
You can smile we will we will we will smile you
You can talk to hours to a mirror it doesn't answer either
A parody of a human being you take my heart you take it apart
Build me up to bring me down are you Ho Chi Minh or Genghis Khan
And you can have me if you want is what I say that important
You are the arbiter of taste self appointed and without face
You can talk you can talk you can talk when you can talk
For hours to a mirror it doesn't answer either
You can talk you can talk you can talk you you can talk
For hours to a mirror it doesn't answer either
