You Should've Lied

Lee Ann Womack

Should have known you'd come around Did your conscience bother you? Well, I guess I forgive you now But that's all that I can do Ain't nothin' lonely as the truth You should've lied to me baby You should've tried just a little bit harder now baby You see my pride has been talkin' to me lately And you can't come back, you can never come back I won't stand another woman You should've lied You overestimated me Thinkin' I would understand Believing that your honesty Would make me see a bigger man Was that all part of your plan You should've lied to me baby You should've tried just a little bit harder now baby You see my pride has been talkin' to me lately And you can't come back, you can never come back I won't stand another woman You should've lied You should've lied to me baby You should've tried just a little bit harder now baby You see my pride has been talkin' to me lately And you can't come back, you can never come back I won't stand another woman You should've lied You should've lied You should've lied to me baby You should've lied