Forget Marie

Lee Hazlewood

Standing on the corner with a raggedi-old suitcase by my side

Waiting for a Greyhound bus to come along so I can hook a ride

Gonna go as far as 14 dollars will take a fool like me Gotta find a place where I can hide, you know I must forget Marie
Marie

I'm standing on the corner feeling raindrops raise tears down my face

Try and losers tears and knowing that I never should have run the race

Never should have let her built a house of love, it's falling in on me

Gotta find a place where I can hide, you know I must forget Marie
Marie

I'm standing on the corner with a raggedi-old suitcase by  $\ensuremath{\mathsf{my}}$  side

Waiting for the Greyhound bus to come along so I can hook a ride