

EVIL

Lee Rucker

I give my all, you take it back
It just don't make no sense
Wonder why i'm on the edge
It's you that makes me tense
It all comes down to decency
A man's gotta have some pride
When i try to lend a hand
You take me for a ride

Your thoughts are deep and your heart small You confuse your own self Take all it's good in life
And hide it on the shelf
Smile is just forbidden and you forgot what it means Shelter that took long to build and break it at the scene

You're mean, mean, mean, just plain evil
You're mean, mean, mean and my cards are on the table Well i'm moving on, i'm stepping out, i'm finally on my way
Jesus, fill my backpack, this time i'm going to stay

Solo

It's not my fault is just who you are
But you're driving me insane
Life lives a one way road
Without a passing lane
Expectancy is a luxury, is something that you earn
But that my man, i know you never learned...

I just pulled down louisiana and i'm feeling like myself
A pack of smokes, some jerry reed and whisky for my health
Pulled up to my hotel room and much to my surprise
There was standing, with evil in your eyes

You're angry and you're bitter and you're looking for a fight
Sun is burning through you eyes, you've never seen the light
I feel sorry for you darling there's so much we could have done
Ain't got time to simply chat with you is time to have some fun

You're mean, mean, mean, just plain evil
You're mean, mean, mean and my cards are on the table
Well i'm moving on, i'm stepping out, i'm finally on my way
Jesus, fill my backpack, this time i'm going to stay
