Brighter Days

Time keeps moving on Through the sunshine and the storm And my dreams are set in stone And someday I?ll be who I wanna be

For now I?ll wait For the sun to shine again And for now I?ll wait For the rain to pass away

And I?m looking for the brighter days When all my hurts seem to fade away I?m looking for the brighter days To come my way

Faces come and faces go But none seem to look my way And walls have stood and walls have fallen But my heart seems to wait

For now I'll sit At the end of the road And for now I?ll wait At the end of a pathway, yeah, yeah

See, and I'm looking for the brighter days When all my hurts seem to fade away And I?m looking for the brighter days To come my way

I?ll see the sun one day shine upon me I?ll see the sun one day And watch the nighttime turn to morning But for now it all comes back around

And I?m looking for the brighter days When all my hurts seem to fade away Now I?m looking for the brighter days To come my way

I?m looking for the brighter days To come my way
