

Waiting For You

Left Alone

And she said, "Things are changing"
And I know times a' wasting
As I'm sitting here waiting for you

My life's full of heartbreak and sorrow
And I don't care if I see tomorrow
As I'm sitting here waiting for you

And tonight ended in a fight
But tomorrow it'll be alright
As I'm sitting here waiting for you

And she said, "I don't feel right without you"
And she said, "I don't feel right without you"

Sitting all alone and I'm left to wonder
She dug my grave, wants me six feet under
As I'm sitting here waiting for you

I've lost direction, she turned off the light
And now my days are as dark as night
As I'm sitting here waiting for you

And she said, "I don't feel right without you"
And she said, "I don't feel right without you"

With an empty glass and an empty heart
With an empty stare she ripped me apart
As I'm sitting here waiting for you

And I know things won't be the same
Nothing you will say won't change anything
As I'm sitting here waiting for you

And she said, "I don't feel right without you"
And she said, "I don't feel right without you"
