

Resurrection

Legenda Aurea

Finally my odyssey
Has been ceased and I am free
Now it is my time to rise
And to seek revenge
Never should I
Have suffered because of you
I'll come back and punish you
Now it is my time to rise
And to seek revenge

The time has come.
May the weak rise from the ground,
To bring a change that no one could've expected.
You were reborn and sent back to the place you came from.
Starved by the strength of anger
You shall live your life again,
Without showing a whiff of mercy.
You have been elected to reveal justice,
By abolishing the ones who are negating it.
Go, accomplish your quest.
It is your destiny.
Complete the ellipse!

I will turn
The tables on to you
At last there will be a new dawn
And I will fight
For all unwelcome ones
No one will escape the justice
I will turn
The tables on to you
At last
There will be a new dawn
And I will fight
For all unwelcome ones
No one
Will escape this justice

It's my intention to find what I
Have made wrong and have denied
All of what I have become
Nothing happens uncertainly
I want to free myself
Of everything predetermined
Now I know death's not the end
Still I pray for an unpredictable life

Finish what has been consigned to you.
It is the price for a new life.
If you fail, endless suffer will be your retribution.

I will turn
The tables on to you
At last there will be a new dawn
And I will fight
For all unwelcome ones
No one will escape the justice

I will turn
The tables on to you
At last
There will be a new dawn
And I will fight
For all unwelcome ones
No one
Will escape the justice

I don't want to bear this quest
I don't think I'll pass the test
How can I judge someone else
For what he has done
Not on purpose
I want to lose the thoughts
Of my previous life again
How can it ever stop
If not even death can bring it to an end...

You abandoned your chance of freedom.
Forever, your torments shall be repeated again and again...