

Doom Priest

Legion of the Damned

"The wretched pray, in vain for mercy to their lord.
Fateful messengers of the horrible pestilence, companions to the apparition of imminent doom, prophesied omens of-foretold death.
The liar's tongue speaks that damnation is at hand. As the ravens feed on the carcasses of the damned"

Visions of a world in apocalyptic decay
Among the dwellers of this plague infested land
Believe that god has turned his back on man
The horsemen come to bring about the end

Black plague, punishment devine
Signs of doom, soothsayers prevail
Revelation of the coming end
Doom priest, messiah of death

World of endless suffering, death in manifold ways
Endtime hymns are sung, clinging to their faith
Soothsayers appear, drunk with mystic dreams
Promising the end, through apocalyptic visions

Black plague, punishment devine
Signs of doom, soothsayers prevail
Revelation of the coming end,
Doom priest, messiah of death

Damnation seems foretold when the plague descends
Suffering death and disease, no cross build withstand

Once you are infected painful tumours start to grow
Necrosis of the flesh, and the skin will turn to black
Vomiting blood, the promise of certain death
Human decimation, by the horrible pestilence

The preacher of doom proudly wears damnation's crown
Soothsayers speak in tongues, of all suffering to come down

Necrosis of the flesh, and the skin will turn to black
Vomiting blood, the promise of certain death

Pestilential eradication
Human decimation
Death you can't escape
Die in horrible pains

Visions of a world in apocalyptic decay
Among the dwellers of this plague infested land
Believe that god has turned his back on man
The horsemen come to bring about the end

Black plague, punishment devine
Signs of doom, soothsayers prevail
Revelation of the coming end,
Doom priest, messiah of death