

The Saga Of You, Confused Destroyer Of Planets

Lemon Demon

You went out, you turned west
You went numb, you felt possessed
You fell down, you blacked out
You woke up to stare and shout
You saw there a dark void
The whole world had been destroyed
The planet was gone, uh huh, the planet was gone
Entire planet was gone, the stupid planet was gone
It's all right

So don't fret, just forget
No one will see, God forbid
It's all gone, so move on
Nobody knows what you did

You moved on, you got old
You got used to the dark and the cold
You withered away into a pile of dust
Completely withered away into a pile of dust

But then you traveled on the solar wind
To find another galaxy to live in, you were forgiven
And once again you settled down
And once again you had another blackout, too late to back out
But it's all right

So don't fret, just forget
No one will see, God forbid (no one will ever know)
It's all gone, so move on
Nobody knows what you did

Nobody knows what you did
Whom it concerns is now in a better place
Nobody knows what you did
Even the person who did it doesn't know
Nobody knows what you did
Whom it concerns is now in a better place
Nobody knows what you did
Even the person who did it doesn't know
Nobody knows what you did
Whom it concerns is now in a better place
Nobody knows what you did
Even the person who did it doesn't know

It's not a crime to demolish all the rules
It's not a crime when the laws are brought down
It's just a paradox, it isn't wrong
It's just a paradox
(but it's all right)

So don't fret, just forget
No one will see, God forbid
It's all gone, so move on
Nobody knows what you did
So don't fret, just forget
No one will see, God forbid (no one will ever know)
It's all gone, so move on

Nobody knows what you did