

You took the long way home.
I've been sticking around for way too long.
My throat is full of words.
I'll stay quiet as a mouse,
and search the walls for some food to wash it down.
And forget about the time I saw you laughing,
with the one who could take you away from me.
I am a jealous girl,
Why would you take me into your home?
In a sea of fish and shark fins,
I'm bringing you down.
Under my spell I'll surround you.
And under your spell, I'll change.
In the bed at night,
It's small but it's nice.
