Star Signs

Leona Naess

And I still love him tonight No distance or time can bite And I still feel out of place In crowded rooms and the silence of space

No love could be this hard to beat I still read your star signs, star signs

And they know just when to hit When morning comes and your friends, they gotta split And you know just what to say When no one's around you know how to play

No love could be this hard to beat I still read your star signs, star signs

Baby, baby can't you see This world ain't big enough for you or me So light the candles and turn out your lights And turn on my lights

No love could be this hard to beat I still read your star signs, star signs

I don't even know what they mean What you mean I don't even know what you mean What you mean
