

For A Brighter Death

Lethian Dreams

A frail painting is now broken
My forgotten dream was lying
And I have lost all reasons
That made me going on Stains of blood on the purest stone
I was waiting for you to come
This eternal grey is swallowing me now
There's no escape I can see
I'm becoming someone else
Following the void within
How I wish you would be here
Hopeless tomorrow
Keeping me away from myself
For a brighter death
I'll leave those lands
Will their choir
Leading my path
to this everlasting grey
Where are all this feelings are they gone
The colourless shape of my life
Still I can't find the strength to go on this way
Pieces of me are falling down
Melting with the pouring rain
Washing away all the traces
I could have let in here
There's no escape I can see
I'm becoming someone else