

Copper Colored Quiet

letlive.

My world is on fire and I've got no one to watch it burn
No one to admire how well I disappear
Don't call me a liar while crossing bridges I meant to burn
You wreak of desire; that's why there's no one here

There's no one here to watch me as I fall asleep
They assassinate the ones who dream
If I got it all, I got it for you

We all came to watch your world as it burns
We all came to watch your world as it burns

My world was on fire way before it was meant to burn
Ironical how dying makes them all appear when they're all up here
Now that I'm a liar, no one's willing to mark my words
Come down to the wire
You'll enjoy it here when there's no one here to

Watch you as you fall asleep
Assassinate the ones who dream
If I got it all, I got it for you

We all came to watch your World as it burns
We all came to watch your World as it burns
Everybody wants me to save my breath because it's all in jest.
We all came to watch your world as it burns

Cause I can't wait unless it's for you
No, I cannot
I can't wait unless it's for you
No, I cannot

We all came to watch your World as it burns
We all came to watch your World as it burns
Everybody wants me to save my breath because it's all in jest
We all came to watch your world as it burns