

The Sick, Sick, 6.8 Billion letlive.

I met a man at church on saturday he said I'm here because I'm sick and after sick I'll be dead and once I'm dead I'll be saved

I played an atheist on judgment day If we're all here because we are picked well I was picked with no faith so once I'm saved don't mean shit

I can tell we found the rhythm and oh...we can obey but if they don't pray then they don't mean a thing

I got my fathers stitch on mother's day it does appear life's a bitch but I'm a dick just the same because we're the same don't mean shit we can't all forget how to be son of man afraid that the wait has only given away this opportunity lucky for me, the sun it sets and it sets on and on again they learn the sea, for they will swim I will learn the sea tonight. I will learn. they learn the sea (they're gonna burn tonight), for they will swim (they're burning now) I bet they cannot, forget their landmark

I met a man at church on saturday
He said I'm here because I'm sick but we all drop just the same and when we drop we will learn to bounce

I believe in everything you tell me because I believe in everything you show because I can see it all

Having trouble getting over insecurities?
I am the wall if you cannot forget this I will remain you will not fall I found that the wait has only given away this opportunity
lucky for me, the sun it sets it sets on and on, again we all can't be a sun of man