

The Last Goodbye

Liberty X

Never thought that I could feel the way I feel Summer's over, clouds appear and all that's left
Are memories
The sands of time rush by oh
Can't even believe that this has been
More than a daydream
In the silence as the waves crash
We can run from our uncertainties
There's only you and I

So I've had my cry, no more tears
Tonight, cos the stars are shining brightly
In the sky, so lay down with me
I wanna touch ya like the breeze
This could be our last goodbye

Anytime that you need somebody
By your side
I'll be there
Anywhere that you leave,
you leave a piece of you behind,
this I swear
You've made a better person out of me
For knowing you there's nowhere left to hide
But while we're outta sight
There's no right or wrong tonight

As the dawn is breaking and the darkness
Turns to daylight, we release one
Another from the warmth that kept us
Safe at night, there's nowhere left to run
Wish that I could stay a while lost in
You forever, maybe I'm not strong enough
To face alone the threat of stormy weather
Blinded by the sun

So I've had my cry, no more tears
Tonight, cos the stars are shining brightly
In the sky, so lay down with me
I wanna touch ya like the breeze
This could be our last goodbye

Hardly can believe the time has come
I gotta leave you lonely
Knew that it was just a little fun
But it's not so easy
I know it's getting harder to let go
And even though I'm gonna miss you so
Time to face reality
