

Breathing

Lifehouse

I'm findin my way back to sanity again
Though I don't really know what I'm gonna do
When I get there...
Take a breath and hold on tight
And spin around one more time
And gracefully fall back to the arms of grace

'Cause I'm hanging on every word you say
And even if you don't wanna speak tonight
That's alright, alright with me

'Cause I want nothing more
Than to sit outside Heaven's door
And listen to you breathing
It's where I wanna be, yeah

I'm looking past the shadows in my mind into the truth and I'm trying to identify the voices in my head
God which one's you?
Let me feel one more time what it feels like to feel alive
And break these calluses off of me one more time

I don't want a thing from you
I bet you're tired of me
Waiting for the scratch to fall off
Of your table to the ground...

a la laaa, la la la la la laaaaaa
'Cause I just wanna be here now...